

People

Two directors: Susanna Lyddon and John Mattock
Since the 1980s, we have worked together, apart, and on overlapping missions.
Everything in our clients involves one or both of us.

But we live in a network...partners, colleagues, associates, neighbours – the distinctions are blurred. We share ideas and material openly, trust each other with treasured clients, and support each other through projects great and small. In recent years, we've shared contracts with all those pictured and cross-fertilised with dozens more.

Their business cards might say 'coach', 'trainer', 'facilitator' or 'communications consultant', but we value them as creative and energetic synthesisers of knowledge and accomplished modellers of our complex and changing world. And friends.

Backgrounds: respected actor with a doctorate in physics...accountant with a passion for the history of art...biochemist specialising in systemic organisation development...soldier, teacher, priest, union negotiator, journalist, head-hunter, round-the-world sailor, digital marketing guru, policeman, prison service psychologist, photographer...Citizens of the world, extraverts, strong on empathy, with a clear view on how people learn, grow and improve.
